NORGE MINING PLC
("Norge Mining" or the "Company")

Appoints Ingvil Tybring-Gjedde as Non-Executive Director

Norge Mining plc, the UK-based exploration company focused on Norway, is pleased to announce the appointment of Ingvil Smines Tybring-Gjedde, the Norwegian politician and business advocate, as a Non-Executive Director of the Company.

Most recently, Ingvil was Special Adviser at Innovation Norway, the Norwegian Government body focused on developing and promoting value-creating businesses in Norway. Prior to this, Ingvil was Norway's Minister of Public Security in the Ministry of Justice and Public Security. Her political career has also included the position of Deputy Minister in the Norwegian Ministry of Petroleum and Energy, a role in which she was closely involved in Norway's oil and gas sector.

Earlier in her career, Ingvil worked as a senior adviser in the Norwegian Ministry of Foreign Affairs and held a management position at the BI Norwegian Business School.

Ingvil will join Norge Mining's Board of Directors on 1 March 2021.

Oliver Baring, the Chairman of Norge Mining, said: "I am delighted to welcome Ingvil Tybring-Gjedde to the Board as a Non-Executive Director. Her knowledge of the natural resources industry, her experience in the development of new businesses in Norway and her depth of experience in public service will all be of great value to the Company. On behalf of the Board, I look forward to her joining the Company at the beginning of March and to providing her counsel as we progress towards our objective of creating a sustainable and strategically important exploration and mining business focused on Norway."

Ingvil Tybring-Gjedde added: "Norway has a huge opportunity from the development of its mineral resources in terms of job and value creation. This opportunity was first identified by the Norway Geological Survey and the recent work by Norge Mining underlines the quality and global significance of the country's mineral assets. I look forward to working with Norge Mining to progress the development of this nascent resources industry, which has the potential, if developed sustainably, to bring major benefits to the Norwegian economy and to local people."

About Norge Mining plc

Norge Mining plc is a UK-based natural resources company focused on mineral exploration in Norway.

The Company owns 46 exploration licences, totalling more than 400 square kilometres in southwest Norway in an area known to contain vanadium, titanium, phosphate and gold. Norge Mining is currently conducting a programme of exploration work, building on earlier studies by the Norway Geological Survey (NGU). The Company's first Mineral Resource Estimate, for the Øygrei area, has confirmed a world-class deposit of the EU Critical Raw Materials vanadium, titanium and phosphate.

Norge Mining's ambition is to become a substantial, sustainable and strategically important exploration and mining business focused on Norway.

The Company was founded in November 2018, is headquartered in the UK and has a 100%-owned Norwegian subsidiary, Norge Mineraler AS.
